Wounds UK

EDITORIALS
Tissue viability: can you define the role or the service?
Karen Ousey

Another kind of celebration in Wales
Jacqui Fletcher

DEBATE
Specialist tissue viability services: a priority or a luxury?
Karen Ousey, David Leaper, Jeanette Milne, Julie Cawthorne

An introduction to the regulation of wound healing by micromechanical forces
Cornelia Wiegand, Richard White

The alginogel Flaminal®: an overview of the evidence and use in clinical practice
Richard White

Exploring quality of life, physical and psychosocial morbidity for patients with non-infected wounds: a pilot study
Karen Ousey, Karen-leigh Edward, John Stephenson

Improving patient education on pressure ulcers
Julie Vuolo

REVIEW
A structured collaborative approach to appraise the clinical performance of a new product
Deborah Simon, Alistair Bielby

Preventing skin-stripping and blistering using a non-adherent perforated ethylene methyl acrylate film dressing: a case study evaluation
Franck Duteille

The challenge of skin tears and lacerations in an emergency environment
Sharon Dawn Bateman

RESEARCH AND AUDIT
Standardisation through clinical audit: an example of good practice in leg ulcer management
Margaret MacDougall, Linda Robinson, Lynn Welsh

Avoidable pressure ulcer rates in six acute UK Trusts
Fiona Downie, Heidi Sandoz, Pauline Gilroy, Dawn Royall, Sarah Davies, Dianne Brett, Julie Bates

Avoidable pressure ulcer rates in six acute UK Trusts
Jacqui Stringer, Graeme Donald, Rebecca Knowles, Peter Warn

PRACTICE DEVELOPMENT
Communicating and managing children and young people with autism and extensive burn injury
Rob Kennedy, Frances Binns

Are our mattresses too short for our beds?
Jacqui Fletcher

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT
The role of ethics in the wound care setting
Pauline Beldon

Singing a new song: my role in reducing the incidence of pressure ulcers in children
Sarah Kipps

PRODUCT EVALUATION
The language of research (part 2): methodologies and methods
Peter Ellis

Research roundup
Jeanette Milne

Experiences from the frontline: a visit to Mottingham Leg Club
David Foster

The first absorbent cotton wool and gauze surgical dressing
Edward White

REGULAR
The first absorbent cotton wool and gauze surgical dressing
Edward White